GEN. VISCONT GORT'S DISPATCHES

German Thrusts in Battle of France

Swiftens Of Attacks Made Counter Actions Impossible To Effect

LONDON, Oct. 16.—(CP)—Gen. Viscount Gort's official dispatches on the Battle of France, a 40,000-word account of the disaster that befell the Allied armies, revealed today that the German thrusts were carried out with such lightning speed that orders by the French and British war offices were impossible to execute.

The commander of the British Expeditionary Force cited several instances of such orders being issued by Gen. Maxime Weygand, Allied commander-in-chief, called for a counter-attack by British troops even as they were being taken home from the beaches of Dunkerque.

At another time, he said, a French general failed to appear at a conference at which a counter-attack was to be arranged, as the British forces had to go ahead alone.

FRENCH BLOCKED ROADS

Still earlier, the French command persisted in refusing to withdraw to cover the Dunkerque evacuation from the final moment of the attack as it had lost in the movement, the dispatches reported, the French troops nearly caused chaos in the Dunkerque area by blocking roads with anti-aircraft equipment.

The Gort dispatches were published here as a special supplement to the London Gazette and issued to the War Office. They covered the period from Sept. 3, 1940, when the British evacuated most of the B.E.F. to May 31, 1940.

The first is concerned with the story of the B.E.F.'s arrival in France and its establishment on the Franco-Belgian frontier. The second covers the first moment of the British forces after the Germans invaded the Low Countries in May 10, 1940.

Gort's Dispatches Said Deterrent To Invasion Without Proper Arms

LONDON, Oct. 17.—(CP)—The Daily Express said today a report by Gen. Viscount Gort, Commander of the British Expeditionary Force, "ought to be enough to stop the invader's shouting and his idle threats for months before we must be able to do it with."

Lord Gort's report said one of the main reasons of the events that culminated in Dunkerque was that a deterrence to the British was "equipped on a scale commensurate with the task it is to be called upon to fulfill."

For counter-attack from both sides to nip off the German corridor. Gen. Edmund Ironside, chief of the Imperial general staff, first to Lord Gort's headquarters with cabinet orders for a British attack toward Amiens, fully re-acted in Belgium and with no mobile reserves, Lord Gort had no troops to make the attack.

The counter-attack with two divisions was planned by the general commanding the British Expeditionary Force. The general called a conference with the French to discuss the French counter-attack. The French failed to send a representative to the conference.

Prime Minister Churchill himself entered the picture on May 23 with a telegrammed demand to French Premier Reynaud that French and Belgian armies "be given most stringent orders" to carry out Weygand's plan for counter-attack.

Weygand had told Mr. Churchill "that Peronne, Albert and Amiens were being recaptured and that the British should be ready to move into the area."

Capitulation of the Belgians wiped out all possibility of a counter-attack from the north. Lord Gort heard of the Belgian capitulation only indirectly after the British had been in effect at midday, May 27.

The British commander said that when he was informed via Dunkirk was the only way to save the British and French northern armies he tried to persuade the French to help form a defensive line about the city of Amiens.

After he went ahead with the evacuation, the British commander said that when he was informed via Dunkirk was the only way to save the British and French northern armies he tried to persuade the French to help form a defensive line about the city of Amiens.

Canadians Were Ready To Leave For Dunkerque

LONDON, Oct. 17.—(CP)—The dispatches of Lord Gort, commander of the British Expeditionary Force, published Thursday, reveal that an infantry brigade of the Canadian army was under orders to leave England for Dunkerque to hold the bridgehead at the French port during the evacuation of British and French troops.

Lord Gort wrote that on May 26 he was uncertain how far he would be successful in withdrawing the whole of the B.E.F. within the Dunkerque bridgehead, nor could he judge how much fighting the troops would have to undertake during the withdrawal.

He went on: "I had, therefore, asked the war office whether it would be possible for the Canadian division to provide a nucleus of fresh and well-trained troops on the bridgehead."

On the night 26th-27th May, the orders were, however, cancelled on the 28th.

Though the Gort dispatches make no further mention of the Canadian division, it was carried out successfully by May 28, that presumably it was decided by the B.E.F. command that there was no necessity of moving a Canadian brigade to Dunkerque.

There were several reasons for the decision. The Canadian division was not fully equipped for the task. It was not fully trained for the task. It was not fully equipped for the task.

Beverly Baxter, Without Visa, Is Refused Passage

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—(CP)—Beverly Baxter, member of the British parliament who has been lecturing in Canada and the United States, was left behind Thursday when the Atlantic Clipper departed for Bermuda and Lisbon.

Floyd Culbertson, editor of the Financial Post of Toronto, and Baxter, travelling companion, stayed behind in sympathy with his friend.

Air line officials said Baxter was refused passage because he had no visa to enter Bermuda, and the British government required such authorization.

Baxter argued that he did not need such a visa, because he is a British subject.

Life Becomes Fresh Tranquil To Americans In Moscow

Diplomats, Attaches Are Greatest Section United States Colony

By A. T. STEELE
MOSCOW, Oct. 17.—(CND)—With the war coming nearer, life is considerably less dull for the fewer than 40 Americans who make this Russian capital their home away from home. In times like these the only Americans here are those who have good reason for being here. The rest, including nearly all the women of the American colony have long since gone home under persuasion by the American embassy.

One American woman remaining here is Miss Alice Leane Moore, a writer for an American periodical—has resisted all persuasion with indifference and triumphant determination.

The greater part of the American community is made up of diplomats, military and naval attaches and a few members of the press.

EXCLUSIVE

Mr. Harriman's Mission. In all, the official American group totals 26 and several more on their way. The first largest group are American newspapermen—10 of them with others coming. One is a priest and the editor of a church paper.

Besides these 36 "orthodox" Americans there are a few "unorthodox" Americans—expatriates here who permitted their passports to expire and have taken up citizenship. These dual nationals are mostly employed in the staff of the American embassy and in the radio station and several on the staff of the Moscow News, an American newspaper which has taken Soviet citizenship as four or five American papers.

These two groups of Americans—expatriates and dual-nationals—all live in quite different worlds. The leader of the American colony is Ambassador Laurence Steinhardt and the ambassador's residence, called "Spaso House," is the headquarters of the American community. Spaso House is a mansion of pre-revolutionary vintage full of impressive columns, fancy chandeliers and gilt chairs. It was once the property of a Czarist sugar magnate and after the revolution for a time served as government guest house for visiting foreigners.

American in Moscow entertain themselves by entertaining each other though there is considerable mixing also with British and other members of the small foreign community. For recreation, which is mostly in the evening, the ballet or spend their nights at the embassy's "Dinner" (country homes in the capital's wooded outskirts for excitement and spectacle, there are the air raids.

Kidneys Must Clean Out Acids

Kidney acids and wastes in your blood are removed through the kidneys. If the kidneys are not working properly, the acids and wastes build up in the blood and cause kidney trouble. This is why it is so important to keep the kidneys clean and free of acids. The best way to do this is by taking a course of treatment with a kidney cleanser. This will help to remove the acids and wastes from the blood and keep the kidneys working properly. It will also help to prevent kidney trouble in the future.

MEETS McNAUGHTON
Mr. MacDonald said he had met the Canadian corps commander, Lt. Gen. A. G. McNaughton, while in Britain, and that "His eye has been on the war from the start and he has been one of its cool and creative military brains."

"The commander, he said, it would be in line time and he is particularly pleased with the equipment which is coming to the front for the Canadian army," the high commissioner said.

British navy and air force leaders were grateful for Canadian help in their respective fields and the financial experts have had some of their problems considerably eased by the contribution of Canadian taxpayers."

"Only by a steady multiplying of the war effort of every part of the Empire can we bring a victory and of the war into sight—let it not in sight," Mr. MacDonald said.

"I think everyone in Britain has a deeper realization than before that this war will not be ended by a single stroke, but by a long-drawn-out effort, and they are prepared for that."

"The British people are not going to rest until this job they are in is finished. Canada is right on the line in helping them and should continue as it now is doing in expanded efforts."

"Things are much queerer in the United Kingdom than when I was there three months ago," he said. "Then there was almost a total bombardment in London, but this time I heard only occasional distant gunfire and bomb blasts."

After a few months of fall in bombing attacks the people were sent out in line fighting troops. Prime Minister Churchill and other ministers were also tried and tested when Mr. MacDonald saw them last, despite their continued fatigue.

"The people of Britain have not fallen into the error of supposing the Russians or anyone else could win this war for them," Mr. MacDonald said. "They know they will have to suffer very hard times and that their own contribution of blood and sweat, toil and tears."

Relations were badly strained between Britain and the United States. The situation was tense and the economic war on Japan, and she is beginning to feel pressure severely to restrict export markets and importations of oil and raw materials. It has affected not only her war effort but her national life.

In addition, the United States has continued sending material and financial aid to China and has compelled Japan reluctantly to see supplies go to Russia via Vladivostok through what Japan regards as her sphere of influence.

Hence, the end of Japan's "hail and sea" policy may be in sight. The question of war and peace between the United States and Japan is brought into sharp focus.

Emergency Powers Are Being Sought By Cuban Cabinet
HAVANA, Oct. 17.—(CP)—The Cuban cabinet asked Congress Thursday night to declare a state of emergency giving the cabinet exceptional powers under the constitutional authority.

There was no official explanation as to why the cabinet called for emergency powers.

Unofficially the move was viewed as an effort to give President Fulgencio Batista better control over the legislative situation or to give him a free hand in preparations to meet the international situation.

B.C. Asks Share Of Income Taxes Following War

VICTORIA, Oct. 17.—(CP)—Premier T. D. Pattullo told an election meeting here last night that his government would be satisfied to let the Dominion government collect provincial income tax after the war, but that the province wanted a percentage of it.

"British Columbia has accepted the federal proposal to vacate the income tax field for the duration of the war."

"We are begging the tax for the war," said Mr. Pattullo. "At its end we want the Dominion government to collect income tax but to pay a percentage of it to the provincial government."

Regarding civilian pensions, the premier said if his administration were returned in the provincial general election Oct. 21, he would like to see the Dominion government relieve the problems of old age pensions, superannuation and mothers' allowances.

"We believe that everyone should get an old age pension," he added. "The pension is not enough. If the Dominion government increases it we will pay our share. The age limit should be reduced."

Melville Survey Shows Few Cases Of Tuberculosis

SASKATOON, Oct. 17.—(CP)—A survey made at Melville, railway divisional point in eastern Saskatchewan, where the entire population was photographed, showed that among 2,400 persons of all ages who were examined, there were only 10 active cases of tuberculosis, it was announced Thursday.

In addition to the 10 cases, which will now receive free treatment in Saskatchewan sanatoria, the clinic found 13 arrested cases. Medical detectives will go to work now to find out the social and medical history of the active and non-active cases of tuberculosis which were found in the survey.

The United States still has some 2,000,000 acres of land available for homesteaders.

This time inevitable is influenced by Germany, Great Britain and the United States, and very directly by the progress of the war in Russia.

Japan's policy has been frankly opportunistic. She sided with the Axis when it appeared that an Axis victory was likely. However, the situation has changed and Japan is now trying to avoid too wide a breach with Britain and the United States.

Cow-Eye Night Fighters Spurned Caution For Big Bag

Pilots Know When Their Members Are Returning Or Have Ended Careers

By HELEN KIRKPATRICK
FRONTLINE NIGHT FIGHTER STATION, Eng. Oct. 17.—(CPN)—Phil, the ace of the local night fighter squadron, was down on July 26. Six American correspondents drank to his health at midnight on that date. Phil had to be hauled out of bed to acknowledge the toast. The boys carried him struggling.

Phil was good. There were few in the squadron as good as he at hovering around their German adversaries in France and getting the best of them. Phil was all unassuming, from their raids on Great Britain. As he came flying in, the landing lights would go on and the Germans would wig confidently to the ground. That was Phil's moment.

Thomas M. Vant, Falsely Ailed, Given Release

BRANDON, Man. Oct. 17.—(CP)—Warden William Sutherland yesterday night announced the release from Brandon Jail of Thomas Mervyn Vant of Edmonton, former lieutenant with the Royal Winnipeg Rifles, who had been serving a six-month sentence for passing worthless checks.

Warden Sutherland said Vant had been freed on instructions from the department of justice at Ottawa.

In Ottawa yesterday, Justice Minister Lapointe announced Vant would be released immediately.

REAL OFFENDER CONFESSIONS
The justice minister ordered Vant's immediate release on a statement by Attorney-General James Macgillivray of Manitoba.

Macgillivray said Vant, alias Jubb, had confessed to the crime for which the former lieutenant was serving time. Macgillivray said Russell is serving time in the Brandon Jail.

Vant was sentenced to jail here last year when a number of men charged with the same crime were released. Vant had passed bogus checks.

Macgillivray said Vant received his discharge from the Royal Winnipeg Rifles in June because of ill health.

Early last July, at the time of the Brandon fair, Vant, with his wife and two children, was at a hotel here. The attorney-general said at the same time another man, also wearing a lieutenant's uniform, took a room at an adjacent hotel.

"NOT GUILTY"
On the last day of the Brandon fair, six bogus checks were passed on Brandon storekeepers by an officer in uniform, added Mr. Macgillivray.

The attorney-general said that at his trial Vant was "pleading guilty to the charge of my conviction although I am not guilty."

Bookies Clipped In Hawthorne Race

LAUREL, Md. Oct. 17.—(AP)—The race horse Hawthorne, under police guard here since Friday, was identified as a "finger" Thursday by E. H. Williams, chairman of the Illinois racing board.

Williams said Hawthorne has positively been identified as the horse which used under the name of Rapid Bone on two occasions at Hawthorne.

He said "mounds of personal property with the case cannot be disposed of at this time" but added that several well-known turf figures will be summoned to a hearing at Chicago next week.

A first-time starter entered as Rapid Bone won at Hawthorne Sept. 24 in a race for maiden three-year-olds and paid $18.40 for $200.

Williams said only $500 was bet on the horse at the track but "it has been said that bookmakers in Philadelphia and St. Louis lost in the neighborhood of $200,000."

Ralston Visits Tank Regiment From Alberta

By ROSS MUNRO
SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Oct. 17.—(CP)—R. B. Ralston, Canadian minister of national defence, was in the first visit of his current trip to Canadian troops.

Col. Ralston spent an hour and a half with an Alberta tank regiment and rode in a tank down a hilly road. He sent from the tank outfit to a Royal Canadian Military survey company, which makes maps for the Canadian corps.

The Canadian tank brigade had just returned from extensive battle maneuvers and shooting practice in Wales.

The minister, Lt. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian corps, Major Gen. H. D. G. Greer, chief of the Canadian general staff, and Lt. Col. G. N. Currie, Col. Ralston's executive assistant, arrived by automobile from London and were met by Brig. F. J. Worthington, commander of the tank brigade, and Brigadier Major John Andrew, Lt. Thomas, Ont. (the regiment's colonel and Capt. F. T. Jenner, of Ont. Alta.)

Col. Ralston inspected a guard of honor commanded by Capt. A. J. Currie, chief of the Canadian general staff, and Lt. Thomas, Ont. (the regiment's colonel and Capt. F. T. Jenner, of Ont. Alta.)

The minister told the troops, "If your regiment is as good as your name I don't think you will need to worry about where and when to go. You have a lot to do."

The party then went to a tank park in a grove of trees.

Col. Ralston crawled into the turret of a tank, took his place in the commander's seat, and drove a tank around the track by Corp. John Kilborn of Vancouver.

End Justifies Means Says Prexy

MONCTON, N.B. Oct. 17.—(CP)—The end justifies the means, so far as the Maritime Amateur Hockey Association is concerned.

Recently an advertisement in a "Winnipeg newspaper," mentioning "gang" and "job prospects," was asked for a "happily ending" to apply to Sydney Milligan, who is in the Cape Breton Hockey League.

Commenting on this Thursday night, Frank J. Gallagher, president of the MAHA, said:

"We are not concerned how the clubs get their players to bond as they have the proper credentials when the time comes. They can bring them in by plane or parachute if they wish."

Looking them Over

The Maple Leafs defeat the Calgary Tornados here Saturday night in the opening game of the Alberta junior football championship. It will be a shock that will jar the Cow Town citizens right down to their limestone formations.

Calgarians have become resigned to Edmonton's perennial taking of the provincial title in Junior football, but they still fancy themselves supreme in football—and until an Edmonton team grabs them they have every right to this fancy.

Junior football has been firmly established in Calgary for many years. Previous to the launching of a city junior league three years ago, the game was flourishing in high schools like crap games flourished in Harlem.

This is Edmonton's second year of organized junior football and a victory over Calgary for the provincial title would be about the choicest morsel grid enthusiasts here can imagine.

In the meantime, Cy Burchell, president of the Alberta Rugby Football Union, tells me that the much touted Western Conference guarantee of financing for a western junior playoff is still a will-o'-the-wisp. The conference has made a proposition, but it is worthless so far as junior teams are concerned. It is a complicated sort of proposal, but seems to be more a money-making undertaking for the conference than a help for the junior game.

No Assistance—No Obligation
Should the conference fail to give the junior playdowns some sort of financial guarantees this fall, then western junior clubs should feel free next season to run their own show without any consideration for either the Western Conference or the Canadian Rugby Union.

This fall we have played C.R.U. rules here out of deference to that body and the Western Conference—rules that no one here likes. Neither body is prepared to give us help in some form more concrete than conversation, then let us run our own show the way we want to.

Calgary junior teams have played all seasons under the old Western Conference rules, but must use the C.R.U. code now championship playoffs are starting. They are going to find this a mighty severe handicap. Edmonton players and coaches know that these woe-bred new rules are more than can be effectively mastered in a few practices.

In connection with this pesky problem, here are three more woe-bred items in this column: probably not what is wrong with our football.

Three Slants on What's Wrong
PRESIDENT CY BURCHELL of the Alberta Rugby Union believes that the present C.R.U. code would be satisfactory if it were amended to permit the backfielders to block up to five yards in advance of the line of scrimmage. That is the one change he would make, believing it would equalize defensive and offensive power by making it possible to get ball carriers into the clear for end runs.

On the other hand, Coach Tommy Hays of the Leafs and Coach Ernie Stevens of the E.A.C. want full field interference for the ball carrier. Stevens goes farther and heartily endorses the recent suggestion in this column that the fisting rule be abolished and the number of players reduced to 11. Hays also endorses this.

Neither coach is in favor of four downs or blocking protection for punt receivers as recently advocated by Paul Kirk. With four downs and even 10 yards of interference beyond the line of scrimmage, neither Hays nor Stevens can see how a team would lose possession of the ball before reaching to a touchdown.

Make It A Grid Laboratory
WHAT if possible the most sound and the most practical, wrapped up in the same general body of control, are in an enviable position here on the prairie. Let us use our junior leagues as football laboratories and experiment until we find the finest possible type of game for our spectators and our players.

This season we have given the new C.R.U. code an acid test and the unanimous decision is that it leaves a lot to be desired. Next year let us try out some of the suggested improvements. Such experiments will hurt no one, provide a lot of new interest in regular league games and do a lot of good for the future.

Rangers Try Out Neil Colville In Defence Position

WINNIPEG, Oct. 17.—(CP)—Former Neil Colville and Lynn Patrick worked on the defence during New York Rangers' workout at the Amphitheatre last Thursday and Wednesday were highly encouraging.

Has SLAP SHOT
Thurrier, the scales at 155, is a fast, hard-hitting and carrying the puck and he possesses one of the most remarkable shots in the National League, said Chapman.

Another player, Mel Hill, professional right wing recruit from the west, was also on the team.

"Hill tells me Thurrier is the closest thing to another Bill Masterton that he's seen yet," continued Chapman. "He's a real shot on goal."

There is no indication, said a Ranger official, that the Colville-Sibbick-Colville line will be broken up. Yesterday's experiment just to test the ability of the two forwards at defense work. At the same time, however, Boucher let it be known that he regards Burns as one of the first rookies uncovered at a Ranger camp in several seasons.

Doddie in the anchor spot for Poles' Pals put together 225 in his first going to lead Connecticut 10-6 for singles Thursday night and Christopher of Biallo pushed off the triple with 363, rolling 191, 221, 173. Williams, also of Biallo, made 204 in his first game.

In No. 3 Manning Pool Three Straight, Searles of Acornia No. 1 knocked over 310, the highest single made in any league. Kinnell of Broumings made the three with 655 from 220, 180, 285.

In Intra Alport Five, Markwick of Radio Racing copied both single and triple, his scores of 227, 185, 171 for a total of 583. Trane Canada also had best aggregate, 2,396.

Mac A. Donald of Biallo led for high single in Lucky Strike with 310.

Huskies Coming Again
Golden Bears All Primed For Saturday Game Here

CAN the Bob Fritz-coached Golden Bears from the University of Alberta repeat their Thanksgiving Day success against the University of Saskatchewan Huskies? That's the question that football fans in the field here are asking themselves as the time nears for Saturday's intercollegiate battle at the Varsity grid.

Last Monday the Golden Bears won a close 6-1 game from the Huskies at Saskatoon, Griffide Stadium. In the first of the four-team series played on October 4, the Alberta club lost out 16-2 to Saskatchewan.

All players for the Golden Bears are in good shape, and it is expected that Hugh Harris, end, and Bob Johnson, lineman, both out with injuries from the October 4 game, will be ready for Saturday's encounter.

Officials for the game are Pep Moon, Doug Foster and John Connolly. Junior Rugby Union rules will be used.

Starting time is 2:30 p.m., advanced one-half hour to ensure plenty of daylight in the last quarter.

If the Alberta team wins Saturday's game they will have a better than even chance of regaining the Hardy trophy, emblematic of western intercollegiate football supremacy.

For the first time, in seven years, fourth game will be played at Saskatoon on October 28. Each club will win two games, the one with the biggest margin in scoring.

Two Games Will Decide Champions

EXPECTING a terrific battle and not the slightest dismayed about the prospect, the Maple Leafs went through a brisk workout last night under the watchful eyes of Coach Tommy Hays in preparation for the opener here Saturday night of the two-game total-point series with Calgary Tornados for the Alberta junior football championship.

Hays, satisfied with nothing short of perfect timing and precision, will put the Leafs through another drill tonight—a light one that will be devoted to running through the team's array of plays.

The Saturday game will start at 8 p.m., and fans are asked to note that the kick-off is half an hour earlier than usual.

RAPID ATTACK
City champions for the second consecutive year, the Maple Leafs are a streamlined squad of youngsters. Coach Hays prefers a fast, rapid attack to the slower, buttoned ram tactics and his team is ideally adapted to his style of play.

With only a few exceptions, the Leafs are under 19 pounds in weight and average between 19 and 20 years of age. Hays will lose only three players next fall through age—Ken McAlley, Alex. Pringle and Jim Pyper. Heaviest member of the team by a 20 pounds are George Shortland and Gordon Rayner, 100-pound sub guard and tackle respectively.

SIX FIRST YEAR MEN
No less than six of the 12 players Hays plans to start on Saturday night are playing their first year of junior football. They are Bob Jackson, Vernon Lawrence, Scotty Barchyn, George Hill, John Sorenson and John Rybick. Other probable starters are Vernon Lawrence, Ken McAlley, Alex. Pringle, Russ Kleis, Joe Cherniowski and Lloyd Bolton.

The reserves will consist of Irvine Barber, Jack Des, Pete Danilovich, Shortland, Dean Gordon, Jim Maloy, Paul Vance, Jim Pyper, Doug Severn, Joe Lyons, Gordon Rayner and Fred Smith. Shortland and Lyons are named to the E.A.C. while Rayner and Smith are from the South Side Spitfires.

A feature of the game will be the presentation in the Maple Leafs of the Burgess trophy emblematic of the Edmonton junior championship.

The game of Calgary will be the referee, Dr. W. Bradford.

Senator Predicts Central European Confederation

Better Democracy Will Result From Conflict

Varsity Students Told

A new central Europe—democratic, co-operative and strong—was envisioned by Senator Vojta Benes, brother of the president of Czechoslovakia, Thursday night at Convocation hall, where he addressed university faculty and student members on "Central Europe in Post-War Years."

I Saw Today

The address, sponsored by the Political Science Club of the U. of A. Literary Society, was the first in a series of talks Senator Benes is giving in this city. At 8 p.m. Friday he will address a public meeting of the Men's and Women's Canadian clubs in McDougall church.

"I believe that the terrible experience of these cruel times, the humiliation of the small peoples of Europe, all will help to build a Central European confederation, and that democracy will be said the distinguished statesman."

"FALSE PROPAGANDA"
Scoring that "false propaganda" began to speak of the artificial small states of central Europe, created by the treaty of Versailles, as the reason for this, Senator Benes declared that "nationalism in politics, in international law, is the real reason for the war."

The Central European confederation, Senator Benes explained, will create a united defense against aggressors, unified transportation, postal, customs, and economic systems, and a unified monetary and financial setup. Spiritual and cultural tolerance and co-operation will also be key features of the confederation, he added.

Start on this plan for the adjustment of Europe has already been continued on Page Twenty.

With funds raised during the past year and a half, the Superfluity Shop of the Canadian Red Cross Society, Edmonton branch, has contributed its first mobile kitchen for use in England. The unit, costing $3,100 and shown above, is one of 36 giant mobile kitchens which have been presented by the Canadian Red Cross to England's National Fire Service. Each kitchen has a cooking range, water, fuel and supplies of meat and vegetables to provide meals for 250 men. In addition, the Superfluity Shop has contributed $1,500 direct to Red Cross work. Situated at 10135 102 street, the shop can handle many more articles and Edmontonians are asked by the shop committee to turn in as many articles as possible.

Edmonton Superfluity Shop Buys Mobile Kitchen Unit For Britain

Railman Here

At a cost of more than $100,000, branches of the Canadian Red Cross Society have contributed 36 mobile kitchens for use in bombed areas in England. Forwarded by the Superfluity Shop in Edmonton, $3,100 have gone from this city for the purchase of one such unit, properly equipped to provide meals for 250 men. It was reported Friday by the shop's committee.

Working between dusk and dawn, young English girls in uniform feed the mobile kitchens to points where buildings are crumbling and burning, and hundreds of firemen risk their lives to save their homes and their cities. In these areas of devastation, the Canadian Red Cross kitchens are a God-send to the people.

Local branches of the society, in the provinces, at the coast, in Ontario, Quebec and Maritime, have been asked to help in this work. The girls are now risking their lives nightly to drive Canadian Red Cross food kitchens into the bombed areas.

Oil Company Is Fined For Supplying Gas

In fine from this, Ltd. $10 and costs for supplying gasoline to a trucker after 7 p.m. Magistrate Miller Friday ordered he was not to supply a heavy penalty because of "unusual circumstances" in connection with the case.

The penalty is an indication of what may happen in other cases of this kind; the court stated in passing that the case was not serious.

Conviction is the first recorded here for violation of the demand of controller's regulations, under the Municipalities and Supply Act.

Recently a charge of a similar nature was withdrawn by the attorney general's department for technical reasons.

CROWN EVIDENCE
According to the unopposed evidence of the crown in the present case, Peter Kotyk, a Lethbridge farmer and trucker, obtained 10 gallons of gasoline for his truck at the company's service station at 104 avenue and 104 street on August 7 last. Kotyk said he had arrived at the filling station at 8 p.m.

He said he ordered and paid for five drums of gasoline and for gallons of oil at the time, but he had no receipt for the gasoline. He said he was not able to start filling the orders until about 8:45.

Just as he was about to leave Kotyk said that he did not have sufficient gas in his truck tank to take him the 40 miles home. It was then after 7 o'clock and the retail salesmen were locked.

The attendant then put 10 gallons from the wholesale section pump in the truck tank and 30 gallons in the last drum.

WAS PAID FOR
The attendant admitted he had made the decision himself, knowing that it was after closing time, but he was justified in so doing in view of the fact the gasoline was paid for and the orders were being filled before.

Kotyk said he would have had to wait until the next morning if he had not obtained the gasoline and would have lost half a day from harvesting operations on his farm.

GETTING AROUND
The attendant admitted he had made the decision himself, knowing that it was after closing time, but he was justified in so doing in view of the fact the gasoline was paid for and the orders were being filled before.

JOHN OLIVER

Inspection By De Gaulle . . . Madeleine As Auctioneer . . . Queen's Celebrates Centennial

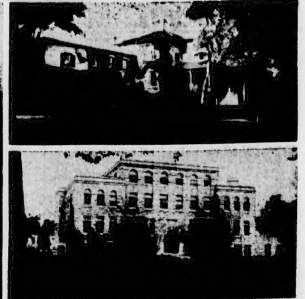

General Charles De Gaulle, commander-in-chief of Free French forces, inspects a cadet corps undergoing course at Officers' Training School in French Equatorial Africa for service under the De Gaulle banner.

Madeleine Carroll auctions a landscape by Richard Jack, R.A., at the British Fur Trade Export Group fashion show in Montreal in aid of the Queen's Canadian Fund brought $300.

A view of the principal's residence and annexes which comprised the entire university 1854-70 is shown, upper right; Grant Hall, lower right, and Fleming Hall, left, are but two of the 33 buildings which now house the university.

BY CENTRAL PRESS CANADIAN

One hundred years ago, a rented clapboard house, today, 33 buildings, mostly of limestone—that is part of the story of the material growth of Queen's University, which is celebrating its centennial anniversary October 16-18.

The centenary is being marked by a program of events in which distinguished scholars and scientists will participate.

Queen's owes its origin to the desire of the synod of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, in connection with the Church of Scotland for a ministry trained within the country. Denominational control was gradually loosened, however, and in 1912 the last vestige was removed.

Founded on the lines of the Scottish national universities, Queen's received a royal charter from Queen Victoria on Oct. 16, 1841. Classes opened the following spring, with a staff consisting of a principal and two professors, and an enrolment of 10 students.

Scarcely enough, even this small number of students experienced difficulty in securing lodgings. Kingston was then the capital of Upper and Lower Canada and was in the midst of a boom. It was a military centre, a naval centre, and the chief shipping centre. One hundred years later the same problem faced the student because the city was once again experiencing growing pains.

Queen's University now has an intramural enrolment that reached 1,800 in the last pre-war year, and an extramural registration that brought the total up to nearly 3,000. The teaching staff numbers more than 200 and the total staff is 394. The value of lands, buildings and equipment is approximately $3,000,000.

The university has three faculties: arts, including commerce, offering courses in languages, literature, history, economics, philosophy, mathematics, science, art and music; applied science, including the most important branches of engineering; and medicine. Queen's Theological College is an independent but affiliated institution.

Queen's is the least local of Canadian universities. An institution in a large city like Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver, draws from 50 to 83 per cent of its students from the immediate vicinity. Out of 450 graduates last spring only eight per cent were from Kingston, and 22 per cent were from outside Ontario.

Queen's has led the way in many fields of endeavor. First in Ontario to engage in teaching, the university was also among the first in the Dominion to establish co-education. Student self-government in Canada first appeared at Queen's, and so did a summer school and an extramural study system.

The sports record shows that Queen's has held her own. The intercollegiate football championship has been won on 15 occasions and the Dominion title five times. The first official game of hockey in the world was played at Kingston, between Queen's and the Royal Military College. In the first year of competition, the Allan cup was won by the Tricolour.

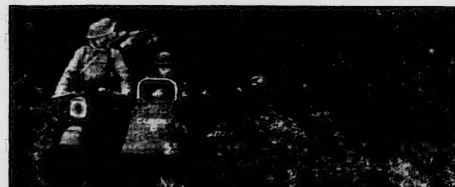

The oldest living graduates are Rev. Hugh Cameron of Ottawa and Mr. P. A. Macdonald of Winnipeg, both of whom belonged to the class of '76 in arts. An interesting feature of the centenary celebration will be the reunion of the class of 1868, and approximately eight survivors are expected to attend.
